

Environmental Humanities in the Public Realm
A Workshop at Memorial University of Newfoundland's
Nexus Centre for Humanities and Social Sciences Research
Science Building (SN) 4022
May 9, 2018 (Student Day)

Student Day Schedule

Wednesday May 9, 2018

9:00-10:00

Lightning Talks: Students will give a 5 minute talk introducing their research area and/or their approaches to research communication, highlighting relationships to workshop themes of engaging the public and policy process with environmental humanities perspectives.

10:00-10:15 - BREAK

10:15-11:15

Jessica DeWitt, Department of History, University of Saskatchewan
Social Media as Public History: Crafting the Historian's Trade for the Internet Age

11:14-12:45

Emily McGiffin, Faculty of Environmental Studies, York University
Writing and Poetics as a form of Environmental Engagement

Brittany Luby, Department of History, University of Guelph
Writing with the Reader in Mind: How to Create a Positive Learning Experience

12:45-1:45 –LUNCH

1:45-3:15

Max Liboiron, Department of Geography, Memorial University of Newfoundland
Feminist Science

3:15-3:30 - BREAK

3:30-5

Bojan Fürst, Manager of Knowledge Mobilization, Harris Centre for Regional Policy and Development
Podcasting as a form of Knowledge Mobilization